Forced Walks

is a programme of public walks to commemorate the death marches in the closing years of WW2. Lorna Brunstein and Richard White are proposing a walk on 4 and 5 February 2016 which will follow as far as possible the exact route taken by Esther Brunstein (Lorna's mother) and other survivors 71 years ago from near Hannover to Bergen Belsen. If you would like to join the walk or just like to learn more please visit the Black Forest and Jersey as well as our group of 15 from Braunschweig

We were lucky to have warm, pleasant weather with only a light shower of rain. We managed to visit the well known sights of Bath and places of interest in the vicinity, as well as renewing friendly contacts with members of the BBTA.

We are not experienced players, and most of us do it just for fun and from interest in French culture. Well, we did not win the cup, but we did have a lot of fun on a warm sunny Saturday at the new pétanque terrain, that was ceremoniously opened that morning.

The cup winners were Kaposvar with Aix-en-Provence second. An unforgettable day for which we thank all the organizers, but especially Don Grimes, and Diane Greenaway.

These encounters and activities across borders are what makes twinning worthwhile. We came home with good memories, a sense of what the European Union really means and the wish to see our friends from Bath and other places back here in Braunschweig before too long.

News from Braunschweig

The main news at present is the large number of refugees in the city. One of the three State Reception Authorities for Lower Saxony is in Braunschweig; there are thus between 3000 and 4000 refugees at any one time being assessed before being relocated within Germany or sent home if they come from a safe place. Not surprisingly reactions of people in Braunschweig vary. Some, especially those living near the camp complain of antisocial behaviour; on the other hand there are many initiatives trying to help the refugees in all sorts of different ways.

BBTA Annual Dinner 15 Oct 2015 at the Rising Sun

20 of us enjoyed an excellent meal at the Rising Sun with German specialities on the menu. Afterwards Don Withers (below) entertained us at the keyboard.

Many thanks to Don Grimes for organising the evening.

BRIDGE BETWEEN TWIN CITIES

Enthusiastic bridge players in Bath have made contact with the director of a bridge club in Braunschweig. At the moment we are learning more about one another and our clubs and exchanging photos of our activities. We hope to invite a group of Braunschweig players to visit Bath in July 2016 when we can offer them a number of bridge sessions, social events and - of course - the opportunity to explore Bath and its sights.

Judy Spencer

Other news is the emissions scandal at Volkswagen. Many people in the region, including my husband, work at the site in nearby Wolfsburg. He says that the atmosphere there is really bad and people are concerned about the possibility of losing their jobs.

But to finish on a more optimistic note: the carnival season has just started and people plan to make 2016 the best ever!

TREVE ERDMENGER

It was with great sadness that we learned of the sudden and unexpected death on 11 October of Treve Erdmenger.

Treve was the moving spirit of the DEG (Anglo German Society of Braunschweig) for more than 30 years and will be sadly missed.

Our book from Braunschweig

The latest book from our twin town is a children's book by the journalist and writer Birgit Schlieper. Its title

"Eine Macke kommt selten allein" promises many idiosyncracies and perhaps misfortune, but it is in fact a charming tale of two 12 year olds who become friends and spend their summer devising ways of making extra pocket money, which leads them into sometimes unfortunate adventures. The novel is amusingly written in a suitably simple style, but contains some swear words (which readers will no doubt recognise) and some examples of current child-speak, which will be more challenging. The scenes of family life will strike a chord with everyone. It can be taken out on loan from Bath Central Library.

Bath Library has chosen Emma Healey's debut novel "Elizabeth is missing", which has been favourably reviewed, to send to Braunschweig.

ecological treasure trove and home to more than 600 rare species of flora and fauna.

This landscape of memories with its long distance walking and cycle routes has become an important area of sustainable tourism.

The unique combination of nature, culture and history is a living monument to German reunification.
